Bra Sizing Tape Measure

According to research done by many bra manufacturers over 70% of women are wearing the wrong size bra. Breasts change size during our lives due to pregnancy, lifestyle changes and changes in diet

It's important to wear the correct size bra and get measured every few years. Common signs of wearing the wrong size bra include, straps digging in and leaving marks, the back of the bra not quite level with the front, breasts oozing out of the cups and a small gap between the bra and breastbone.

In tests the Bra Sizing Tape Measure gave an accurate measurement for 90% of women and it measures from 32AA— 44G.
